

A source of inspiration

Ipswich based office furniture and interiors company Source One Consulting has recently completed a contract to provide office furniture and other equipment to Bennett Homes for their new offices and sales centre in Nowton, on the outskirts of Bury St Edmunds

TERRY Bugg, senior administration manager of Bennett Homes said Source One managing director Patrick Lewis was “a source of inspiration” when it came to advising Bennett Homes on all the aspects of the project.

He said: “From the design of the furniture throughout the building, the bespoke reception, the boardroom and the main offices, right down to supplying our waste bins, desk trays and window blinds, which complemented the final look we achieved. Pat and myself have lived and breathed the project over the last few months and we feel the results speak for themselves.

“Myself and the directors of Bennett Homes were absolutely thrilled when we walked into the building, complete with the furniture, on the day of completion. Source One completed the project within the timescale we had allowed and within budget. We feel that we could have spent double our budget and still not achieved a better look and finish for our new offices, of which we are extremely proud.”

Patrick Lewis of Source One added: “It was a pleasure to work so closely with Bennett Homes on this project. It was an enjoyable as well as an extremely productive experience.

“I am delighted that Bennett Homes are thrilled with their new offices. We will complete our first full financial year of business in December, and I am overjoyed with our growth and with our list of clients. We have also just secured contracts to supply Psytechnics and Business Link in Ipswich with office interiors work including partitions, interiors and office furniture.

“Added to this, a contract to supply office furniture to Hertfordshire based Datex-Ohmeda, makes our first full year of trading a success. We provide an excellent service, and high-quality products at a value for money price. But we pride our selves on our Service levels.”
