Taking care of business

Source One, the Ipswich based office interiors company, has secured and completed a contract to supply office furniture and ancillary equipment to Take Care Now Ltd (TCN), whose new head office has been relocated within Ipswich. The project involved creating an office environment complete with workstations, seating, partitions and storage facilities, merging the departments together to create a corporate head office

PATRICK LEWIS, managing director of Source One said: "We are pleased to have had the opportunity to work with TCN on this project. From our first meeting, it was clear that TCN is a forward thinking company that identified the need to move to new premises to cope both with the expansion of its business and to create a collective corporate HQ.

"We worked closely with their support service functions over a period of months, listening to their ideas and requirements and offering our own advice and experience to collectively create the final idea. From these discussions we provided plans and computer generated 3d real time walkthroughs to show how we could help to offer an efficient and cost effective workplace to cope with the challenges involved in moving a multi-faceted operation such as TCN's."

TCN is a rapidly expanding healthcare services company specialising in providing cutting edge integrated out-of-hours and minor injuries solutions on behalf of Primary Care Trusts. TCN has grown rapidly in the last four years and has recently secured the out-of-hours contract for the Worcestershire population.

A spokesman for TCN said: "We found working with Source One a breath of fresh air. Their friendly and hardworking compassion for providing what the customer really wants and needs shines through in their efforts. The entire move was coordinated brilliantly, with Patrick and his team being on site from start to finish. TCN thoroughly enjoyed working alongside Source One and would recommend their professional and friendly service to anyone who needs not just installation, but a full office planning service too. We look forward to working with them in the future."

Patrick added: "The aim of Source One is not just to supply office furniture; it is to provide help during this type of project and to take away the burden of work from the staff involved, this releases them to still undertake their own day to day responsibilities, leaving us to take away the stress. The team at TCN were a pleasure to work with which made the planning stages through to final installation an enjoyable, productive and fun experience for all. And as usual our service, time and advice were free of charge."
